

KJA welcomes Project Director Monica Vardabasso

Monica Vardabasso recently joined KJA as our newest Project Director. With more than 25 years' experience in corporate communications, she has provided senior-level advice across various sectors, from engineering and health to mining and not-for-profit.

Monica has worked with the Suncorp Group, IAG, NSW Department of Health, Scouts NSW, EnergyAustralia, Colgate-Palmolive, Arup and industry associations in mining, telecommunications, pharmaceuticals and agriculture. She is also Deputy President at TAD Disability Services, NSW (formerly Technical Aid to the Disabled, NSW).

"I love talking through a situation to make sure everybody involved has an in-depth understanding of what is happening," Monica says. She excels at engaging all project stakeholders to work towards what they see as the key project goals.

Monica's experience at implementing crisis communications strategies around flooding and product recall, as well as initiatives such as public housing 'greening', makes her a valued addition to the team. Stay tuned for her interview in our newsletter next year.
